INTRODUCTION

General

There is no standard method of abstracting Fines; much will depend on the resources of the Society or individual responsible for their publication; later Fines, being more stereotyped, lend themselves to more summary treatment.

A Fine at this date is a very compact piece of work with hardly a superfluous word; on the other hand it already follows a more or less fixed course. In the present work I have abstracted the Fines at length, following closely the order of the original, and a list of the few abbreviations used is given; these last are chiefly in the dates, such as quind. for quindene or quinzaine (a fortnight and a day) and in the description of the parties, such as quer. for querens or plaintiff. Italics have in general been used for Latin words retained, except for personal names.

Dates

For an explanation and list of the "return" dates, see Mr. Pugh's Wiltshire Fines, Introduction, page xii.* I have preferred the popular feast names, such as Christmas, Candlemas, Ladyday, Easter, Whitsuntide, Midsummer, Michaelmas and Martinmas, and have abbreviated.

Justices

These are very often omitted by Editors as being discoverable aliunde; they can, however, be given quite briefly (e.g. "before the same," "same date and justices"). Many of the Yorkshire Fines were before the Justices in eyre; at other times the Court sat not at Westminster but at Shrewsbury or York.

Parties; Personal Names

In general, in choosing between "de" and "of", the Public Record Office convention, as laid down by the late Sir Henry Maxwell Lyte and explained by Mr. Pugh in his *Wiltshire Fines, Introduction, page xvii, has here been followed. But to speak of Alan de Walkingham in one Fine and of Alan son of John of Walkingham in another, plainly referring to the same person, seems such an absurdity that I have preferred to write "de" in both cases. I would still write, e.g. "John le Baker of" rather than "John le Baker de". I have not attempted to translate such Latin names as "de Vallibus" "de Mortuo Mari", etc., into their Norman-French or English equivalents, even where these are well known.

* Wiltshire Archæological and Natural History Society, Records Branch, Volume I, Abstracts of Feet of Fines relating to Wiltshire for the Reigns of Edward I and Edward II.

Description of Parties

In actions of covenant and of warranty of charter the first party is querens or plaintiff, in actions of writ of right, etc., petens or demandant ; in actions of covenant the second party is deforcians, in actions of warranty of charter impediens ; in other actions he is tenens.* I have used abbreviations of the Latin names, quer., pet., deforc., imped. and ten.

Attornies

The full phrase is per C. positum loco suo ad lucrandum vel perdendum " by C, put in his stead to win or to lose ". There seem to be few " professionals " among these but abbots and priors and some of the greater landowners had their own regular agents.

Place-Names

In choosing between " v " and " u ", where there is any doubt between " v " and " n ", I have written a " u ", e.g. " Staueley in preference to " Staveley " ; it is an editor's business to guide the reader, but not, by making him think that certainty exists where there is none, to set a trap for him ; at the same time " u " is at this date the normal way of writing a small " v " and V the normal way of writing a capital " U ". It would be more accurate to say that " v " and " u " were one and the same letter. I have in general given the English equivalents of Latin names of abbeys, etc., and of such well-known places as York (Ebor'), Pontefract (villa de Ponte Fracto), Beverley, etc.

Nature of Action

This is of some importance as there is considerable variety at this date. Warranty of Charter is very common, later pleas of Covenant gradually supersede the other forms. Action of mort d'ancestor, darrein presentment and recognitio magne assise occur ; in the two former cases I have given for the Latin the usual Norman-French equivalents, in the last named simply " Grand Assise ". There is one case of " duellum " or trial by battle.

The " jus " Clause

The early writers of legal treatises draw a sharp distinction between cases of right simple (jus tantum) and those of right as of gift (sur don) ; the latter implied that seisin had already been given ; in warranty of charter the jus is almost always that of the querens as of the gift of the impediens.

Limitations of the Estate

I have followed closely the words of the original, e.g. " and his heirs ", " and the heirs of Agnes " " and the heirs male of his body", etc., in preference to e.g. "in fee simple" or "in tail male"; but I have avoided the phrase "to hold to A. and his heirs" as being "Conveyancer's English"; in classical Latin "hoc est tenendum mihi" means "I am to hold this" and in these Fines "tenendum A. et heredibus suis" means that "A. and his heirs are to hold" i.e. that A. holds in fee simple.

* See Feet of Fines for Northumberland and Durham. Printed for the Newcastle-upon-Tyne Records Committee. Volume X. 1931. Introduction, page x.

Warranty

This is chiefly found in pleas of warranty of charter. Often the one word is enough but where wives and their heirs are mentioned it is better to specify. Sometimes B. and his heirs warrant, sometimes B. warrants for himself and his heirs.

Consideration

I have simply written 'For . . .' The reader can supply the rest. In cases of free alms ("and the abbot has received etc.") the full phrase is normally "recepit in singulis beneficiis et oracionibus que de cetero fient in ecclesia sua"—"has received in all the benefits and prayers which shall in future be made in his church".

A list of Feet of Fines for Yorkshire previously published, either in full text or in abstract, is given in the Introduction to the first volume of those for the reign of Henry III (Vol. LXII of the Record Series). The present volume, covering the period 1272 to 1300, will be followed by a further volume covering the period to 1327, which will then complete the series of Yorkshire Fines down to the year 1377.

F. H. SLINGSBY.

oct.	octave, a week and a day.
quind.	quindene or quinzaine, a fortnight and a day.

Hil.	St. Hilary, January 13.
Cand.	Candlemas, Purification of the B.V.M., February 2.
Ladyday	Ladyday, Annunciation of the B.V.M., March 25.
East.	Easter, for which see Handbook of Dates (R. Hist. S.), p. 158; also the notes at the beginning of each file.
Asc.	Ascension-day.
Whit.	Whitsuntide or Pentecost.
Trin.	Trinity.
Mids.	Midsummer, Birth or Nativity of St. John Baptist, June 24.

quer.	querens or plaintiff (in actions of covenant or of warranty of charter).
pet.	petens or demandant (in actions of writ of right, etc.).
imped	impediens (in actions of warranty of charter).
deforc.	deforcians (in actions of covenant).

ten. tenens or tenant (in actions of writ of right, etc.). In the index these have been abbreviated further to q, p, i, d and t, and att. has been put against attornies.

Names of persons as well as of places have been identified so far as possible, but such identifications are liable to be somewhat conjectural.

For identifications the main sources have been the Place Name Society's Books for the North and East Ridings and Goodall's Place Names of South-West Yorkshire (Cambridge University Press); Feudal Aids, Vol. VI; and two typescript volumes of Yorkshire Place Names compiled for official use by the late E. W. Safford of the Public Record Office.
